THE LATEST TURN

The new raumplus Aluminum Frame Hinge Door RPS combines elegance and visual lightness to create a head-turning result. The innovative hinge system is, quite literally, the lynchpin for this exclusive new product and is seamlessly integrated into the slim-line profile.

Time after time, the Bremen specialists for sliding door and room-dividing systems successfully implement technical innovations to optimize the look and function of their custom-fit interior design systems. The raumplus development department has once again proved this with the Aluminum Frame Hinge Door RPS that functions as an elegant façade for everything from closets through display cabinets.

The profile, available in two geometric forms, frames satin-finished Float glass White in this picture. The profile itself is available in on-trend color variations Dark Bronze and Silver.

Doors can be produced in sizes up to maximum 2500 mm height and 620 mm width and with fronts that provide clear or tinted views of the inside contents, depending on the glass color and interior lighting.

These views are always great, thanks to exclusive and flexible interior systems »Legno« and »Uno« that structure the storage space behind the hinge doors in line with the client's wishes.

Options range from shelves with a warm wood grain for display cabinets through pull-out shelves and illuminated clothes rods for closets, ensuring that everyone can design their very own personal solution. In addition to this, the new hinge doors have discreet small handles and a "soft close" system. The no-handle push-to-open version is a great alternative for furnishing schemes that envisage uninterrupted clean lines for the chosen surface. No matter what option you choose, the new Aluminum Frame Hinge Door RPS once again proves that raumplus is a master of the turn.
